Odysseus: The Good and the Bad

Part 1: During the start of Odysseus' flashback to describing what happened to him after he left Troy, he reveals many of his choices and actions. Some were positive and some were negative. Considering everything that happened in books 9 and 10 (and there's a lot), make a T-chart of all of Odysseus' positive and negative choices. Try to cover as many details as you can so you can make an accurate assessment.

Part 2: Write a reflection (a full, solid paragraph) on what you think about Odysseus based on his performances in books 9 and 10. It should have a topic sentence (where you state your opinion about Odysseus), a proper quote introduction, a cited quote from the text that proves your topic sentence, and a full warrant that explains your reasoning.
